

as the day begins
we climb
to confront the chaos
before us lies
the vast and windswept sky and we so frail
take flight into the fire

"envoi"

to the past

we are the future,

and soon we too

shall belong to the past. that we have inherited the whole foundation of our lives today cannot be denied. what may be more difficult to admit is that through our day by day attitudes and actions we are bequeathing to the future a more involved and hopefully, a better way of life...

- Ronald gross

We will always remember . . .

With all due respect and dedication to those who have made these past four years meaningful and memorable, challenging and rewarding, we thank you. In our hopes for a brighter tomorrow, we dedicate this yearbook to you and to a greater ideal; but to ourselves, we dedicate the future.

"The future holds the promise of the past four years."

somewhere

there's a place for us somewhere, a place for us peace and quiet and open air, waits for us, somewhere.

there's a time for us someday a time for us ~~time together with time to spare,~~ time to learn, time to care.
someday, somewhere, we'll find a new way of living we'll find a way of forgiving

somewhere

yes, there's a place for each of ~~us where love is like a passion~~ and burns like a fire. let our efforts be as determined as those of dr. martin luther king, who had a dream; that all god's children, blackmen, whitemen, jews, gentiles, protestants and catholics could join in and sing that spiritual of old;

free at last, free at last, thank god almighty, free at last.
hold my hand and we're halfway there hold my hand and i'll take you there somehow, someday, somewhere.

PT73 entered the waters of East Windsor High on September 9, 1969. Our ship ran strongly the first year with its captain Sue Ann Dumeer (President), Hope Davis as first mate (Vice-President), Sheila Beattie as second mate and Larry Sullivan as third mate. Miss Mooney came on strong as our nurse in sick bay and Mr. Patrick did wonders in the mess hall feeding our 145 crew members. We were all under the command of Uncle Lunky and Uncle Milt.

Our first year on the high seas was a rough one. Finding our way from port to bin to stern was tough, but we made it! We were all initiated into our freshman year with dunce caps, sneakers, bobby socks, inside-out clothes and bibs. We never did pass inspection! That night our newly initiated crew danced to the beat of the band at our first dance aboard ship - "The Freshman Welcome."

Regardless of all our team spirit, we lost our first pep rally to the seniors. We will always remember Mike Legros in diapers and baby buggy, supporting our theme - "Freshmen Born with Spirit."

We were well manned and on course at last. Drawing trees with Mrs. Hyde was like painting the Empire State Building, but we loved it! Miltie was always around to stick up for us in case our shoes were held captive in the art room and we were caught around the decks without them.

IPS with Mr. Walsh kept us alert amid ink explosions and test tube fires, while Mr. Chasse tried reverse psychology on us.

As the smoke poured out of the "A" and "C" wing lavs, the crew hustled to their posts; some puddle jumping and barrel dodging, while others threw pennies in the "wishing wells."

Thus, the first year came to a close, we welcomed our shore leave with open arms, knowing we'd be back again soon.

Three months later we were on duty with new officers, Chas Davis as captain, Gary Vick as first mate, Paula Russell as second mate and Kathy McGill as third. With Mr. Lunquist and Mr. Anders restationed, we were greeted with our new "brass" - Mr. Woods as admiral and Mr. Franco as commander. Mr. Patrick fell overboard, thus, we lost our cook - the position was filled by Mr. Clark. Anxiously awaiting our Junior year, we ordered our rings and left our sophomore year.

Shore leave came and went, and pulling up anchor, we sailed off into our Junior year. Breaking tradition, we received our rings early in the year - September 27th. Continuing along this path, we made the day more memorable by having a crew picnic on the stern. To symbolize the growing process we were experiencing, we planted a flowering crabtree on the bow. It is still anchored in place.

On May 19, 1972, the Captain's Ball was held at the Ramada Inn. Anthony's Trio, who provided the music to "Precious Are the Moments," chose Debra Harrington as queen. She was escorted by Paul Daigle. The queen's court consisted of: Judy McDonald, escorted by Steve Samocuik; Debbie Myette, escorted by Wayne Brown; Sue Koehler, escorted by Donald Levesque; and Mary-Jane Imme, escorted by Ed Joyner.

Air raids increased the excitement of our year, and gave us ample opportunity to view the newly paved pot holes on the landing strip.

Mr. Eichman was still trying to convince us to "get with it!" (If that ever had happened, Chemistry would never be the same!) Meanwhile, many of us found ourselves dodging flying garbage pails and desks in certain history courses, and listening to those "short" lectures during sports awards assemblies . . .

Our sports activities reached a height when we made the semi-finals of the State Tournament, which was played at the University of Hartford during the 1971-1972 basketball season. Our voyage ended there, where Ellington sunk us.

A sigh of longing and envy slipped out as we watched our friends in the senior class graduate, only to realize that we, too, would soon have our moment.

Our third shore leave was welcomed, finding us with new jobs and activities - and on Wednesday, September 6, 1972, we came back as the mighty, mighty seniors of East Windsor High. Once again we found ourselves with new "brass." Chas Davis as captain, Bill Buckman, first mate, Kathy Kubasek as second mate and Gail Stocinis as third. We welcomed Mr. Morton as admiral. With new brass came new privileges, food and drink in mess hall during study halls, time release, and even a juke box to help us with our studies.

On December 5 the crew experienced their second pep rally. But, alas and alack, with the theme, "Taking Off With Spirit," we were torpedoed by the sophomores.

Bringing a little bit of South America to our North American decks, Giannina Rovayo from Brazil and Margareth Texeira from Venezuela arrived in mid-February.

More and more of us were put on work experience under the guidance of Mr. Goldschmidt with Miss Semple taking his place as our counselor.

We will always remember our ship's library, which was commanded by Mrs. Flood and constantly bombarded by her friends.

Mr. Catino will soon come to realize that he has a new group of "new people" and another year of trying to convince the concert and stage bands that "this is not a democracy."

The Hu Ke Lau and foods room will never be the same now that Miss Mooney's "D" period World Literature class has struck, and we are sure that Mr. Manning's sociology classes will always remain current. Did you ever notice the strange goings-on in the "C" wing business section? It seemed funny how all of Mr. Cepps long-haired students never seemed to pass his courses, while every business student knew Mr. Army's life history . . . and those business women of tomorrow will never forget that big mistake with the added energy in the punch (neither will Miss Mac), (we're still waiting for that "Boston Trip!")

Our class, Student Council and Yearbook meetings will always remain in a special part of our minds and hearts.

Killer Killion's rebirths forever kept those seniors in Spanish 3 alert, despite cries of: "Oh, that's queer!", "I'm dropping this course," "Profando", and "I can't say it in Spanish!"

And now it is time to say our farewells to friends and the "good life;" to set out and conquer the world. Our enlistment is up. PT73 will be put into moth balls forever - each of us to find our place in the world.

Senior Class Officers

Fall Sports Awards Assembly

parliamentary procedure we missed every deadline SPIRIT
right arm
who's she in for?
one to a table, my friend you're late confusing detentions
where's God's gift to men?
mighty mighty panthers time release
did the bell ring yet go fight win
what period is this?
who's who in c-2
rah rah rot
what am i saying i lost my key
do you have any spare change allman brothers
i think i just ate it
where's my gym suit?
you'll be ok
i hope my brakes work
turkey time
i like dumps
that's a big one

BOMB SCARES

wait till i swallow my soda what's our job number?
clouds in my coffee
be ahead of the class

C r o s s C a n d i d y s another class meeting?

we're the best of all the rest!!! i think i'm gonna kill myself STOP
i can't find my locker can we really do this???
she went out with who???
be creative
i think i'm in love
i'm in your way bub!
he went out with who??
we gotta substitute!!!
i wish i had a motorcycle!
far-out
why are all these pictures wet???
they fell in the mud come over here and say that the sub won't know the difference
let's not and say we did monday mornings
a-period study halls
we are ladies!!! i think we're gonna lose!
boom boom cepp
something smells rotten

we'll never get this yearbook done when's the next dance?
who the'!!?+ does she think she is???
did you ever have a go to bassdales???

FALL SPORTS

can't wait till graduation g-period study halls mighty mighty seniors
 how come the sophs won?
 how do you crop?
 groovy gobba
 there's a dead skunk where?
 what a flip
 you little nipper who the!?" +] took all the senior information?
 it's somewhere in Mr. L's room catch-up days
 call for a delay
 somewhere
 no way mr. kaufman can't say we didn't give you nothing
 the bus missed me
 there's a finger in my ice cream
 i lost all the senior pictures let me go home
 can we go outside?
 crabtrees
 PA announcements
 will the following students crowned with what?
